UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 1.—(Special).— Again the heart of the University family circle has been saddened by news of the death of two former students, fine young men, Claude S. Brannon and Everett W.
Barkwell. When a young man enters the university he becomes a member of its family circle and the longer he attends the stronger grow the ties that bind together him and his teachers, his fellow students and the great, big-hearted president, head of the whole family. And through life, however long, or whatever career, these fraternal and paternal interests and affections continue—the university rejoices over all good things in the life of its boys, and grieves to record the death of a single one of them, especially so if the end is an untimely one. And such it was in the present instance, when the grim reaper cut down, not one, but two, of the finest young men that ever attended the university, Brannon and Barkwell. They both died in the service of their country, the one December 12, at the aviation field near Fort Worth, Tex.; the other December 21, at the Great Lakes naval training station near Chicago, Ill., and both by pneumonia, following the influenza.

Claude was a student in the college of arts and sciences until he volunteered for the aviation service. In college he was loved for his quiet, amiable disposition and generous nature. Of college activities outside classroom he was most interested in athletics and was a familiar figure in football togs on Fleming field. He had been at the aviation camp quite a while and had been recommended for the commission which would have gladdened his eyes had he lived a little longer. The sympathy of the university circle goes out to his grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Lena Brannon, now of Daytona, but formerly of Gainesville, where she was a member of the Kirby Smith Chapter, U. D. C. On the service flag of this chapter the blue star gives place to one of gold in token of the loyalty and devotion of Claude Brannon, who has paid the supreme sacrifice.

Everett, or "Birdie," as the fellows affectionately called him, entered the University from Minneapolis, Minn. He, too, was of a quiet disposition, friendly towards all, and always giving diligence to his student duties. Thus in a little while he won himself a warm place in the affections of his teachers and fellow students, and as his talents became more evident he came to occupy a larger place in the activities of his college, the college of agriculture, from which he graduated last year. From the management of a farm near Crooked Lake he went into training for the naval service and was making excellent progress when pneumonia cut him down. At college he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and his friends were as many as knew him well. On the agricultural college service flag there will be a star of gold for him.

Personal Notes

Lieut. R. P. Terry sent President Murphree a card of Christmas greetings, saying that he was going into Germany with the army of occupation.
